Examiner's Amendment and Statement of Reasons for Allowance

1. This action is responsive to Applicant's amendment after non-final filed November 18, 2005.

Examiner's Amendment

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Edward Grundler, Registration Number 47,615, on May 02, 2006 for putting the claims in condition for allowance. Please see attached facsimile dated on 5/2/06.

Claims 1, 10, and 19-26 are amended by Examiner, the application has been amended as follows:

Claim 1. (Currently amended) On lines 7-8, "analyzing the model within a class dependency analyzer to detect references to the supporting class;"

On lines 17-19, "dependent classes of the supporting classes in a cache within the class dependency analyzer which stores class dependency information to facilitate subsequent lookups of dependent classes of the target class."

Claim 10. (Currently amended) On lines 9-10, "analyzing the model within a class dependency analyzer to detect references to the supporting class;"

On lines 19-21, "dependent classes of the supporting classes in a cache within the class dependency analyzer which stores class dependency information to facilitate subsequent lookups of dependent classes of the target class."

Claim 19. (Currently amended) “~~An~~ A computer apparatus that determines a class dependency that identifies a supporting class on which a target class depends, wherein the target class is defined in an object-oriented programming language, comprising:

- a receiving mechanism that is configured to receive a representation of the target class at a first platform-independent virtual machine;
- a modeling mechanism that is configured to create a model of the target class from the representation;
- a class dependency analyzer;
- an analysis mechanism within the class dependency analyzer that is configured to analyze the model to detect references to the supporting class;
- a supporting mechanism that is configured to determine a class dependency for the supporting class;
- a listing mechanism that is configured to create a list of dependent classes for the target class and supporting classes;
- a sharing mechanism that is configured to share the list of dependent classes with a second platform-independent virtual machine so that the second platform-independent virtual machine does not need to create the list of dependent classes;
- a cache within the class dependency analyzer configured to store class dependency information; and
- a saving mechanism configured to save the list of dependent classes of the target class as well as the list of dependent classes of the supporting classes in the cache to facilitate subsequent lookups of dependent classes of the target class.”

Examiner's Statement of Reason(s) for Allowance

3. Claims 1-8, 10-17, 19-26 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior arts of record: Gerard, teaches a method for A dependency checking apparatus and method allows checking the version of classes in an object-oriented program to assure the proper version is being used for each release of the software. Li teaches a method of for identifying class relationships in an object oriented system. An object oriented program in an object oriented source code language is parsed for the immediate class relationship data. However, none of them teaches an cache within the class dependency analyzer that stores class dependency information specifically (see REMARKS dated 2/14/06, page 9); and none of them, taken alone or in combination, teaches a method for determining a class dependency that identifies a supporting class on which a target class depends, wherein the target class is defined in an object-oriented programming language, comprising: receiving a representation of the target class at a first platform-independent virtual machine; creating a model of the target class from the representation; analyzing the model within a class dependency analyzer to detect references to the supporting class; if a supporting class is detected, determining a class dependency for the supporting class; creating a list of dependent classes for the target class and supporting classes; sharing the list of dependent classes with a second platform-independent virtual machine so that the second platform-independent virtual machine does not need to create the list of dependent classes; and saving the list of dependent classes of the target class as well as the list of dependent classes of the supporting classes in a cache within the class dependency analyzer which stores class dependency information only to facilitate subsequent lookups of dependent classes of the target class; in such a manner as recited in independent claims 1, 10, and 19.
